Salvation Army Launches Drive To Finance New Building Program

A building fund campaign for $2,410,000 for the purpose of providing new buildings and standardizing present buildings was announced for The Salvation Army in the metropolitan Los Angeles area at the "Sally" awards dinner at Hotel Statler Hilton Tuesday evening at which United States Senator Barry Goldwater was principal speaker.

The financial campaign will be sponsored by a committee of citizens under the chairmanship of Philip Chandler, executive vice president of the Times-Mirror corporation and member of The Salvation Army's Los Angeles advisory board.

LEONARD K. Firestone, one of the leaders in the preliminary stages of the campaign organization and member of the campaign steering committee was the recipient of the third annual "Sally" award which was presented by Lieut. Colonel William J. Parkins, southern California Salvationist commander.

Other members of the campaign steering committee are film executive Steve Broidy, and Willard Keith.

In addition to the Greater Los Angeles campaign, two other building fund campaigns for similar purposes will be undertaken for The Salvation Army in Long Beach where the quota is $472,000 and in Santa Monica with a goal of $65,000.

INCLUDED in the Los Angeles quota is $750,000 for the erection of a new 25-bed hospital on the present site of Booth Memorial hospital on North Griffin Ave. where present facilities are overtaxed. Aside from the acquiring of additional land, no major building improvements have been made on the hospital since 1928.

Other objectives in the campaign include new or refurbished community service facilities in Compton, Los Angeles, Inglewood, Beldere, Van Nuys, Huntington Park, San Pedro and Hollywood aggregating $1,305,000. Mt. Cragg camp $85,000, a new Harbor Light alcoholics rehabilitation center $170,000 and improvements on the downtown service center.

SPEAKING ON behalf of the campaign at the "Sally" awards dinner, Mr. Broidy said "The Salvation Army never asks anything for itself. It only asks for tools with which to perform the service we expect them to do. Our part is to implement this magnificent organization with adequate buildings and equipment."
